A wide-angle photograph of the Grand Canyon National Park, showing the vast, layered rock formations and the Colorado River in the distance. The image captures the immense scale and geological complexity of the canyon, with various shades of red, orange, and brown rock visible. The Colorado River is seen winding through the bottom of the canyon. The sky is clear and blue, and the overall scene is bathed in bright sunlight, highlighting the textures of the rock walls.

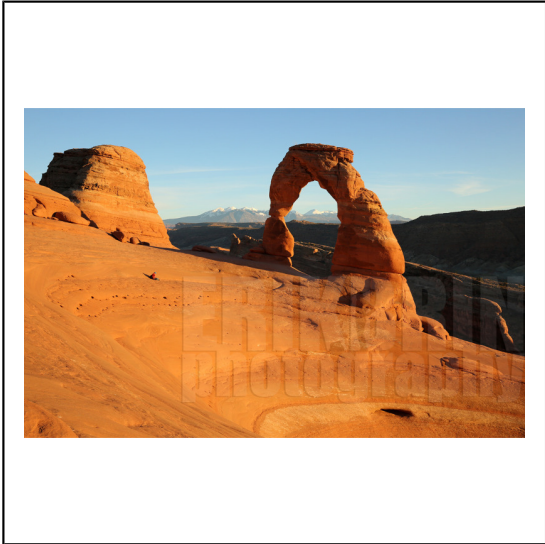

A photograph of a natural rock arch made of reddish-brown sandstone. The arch is set against a clear blue sky. In the background, there are dark, rolling hills and a range of mountains with snow-capped peaks. The foreground shows the textured surface of the rock formation.
